

MARYLAND
FOOD BANK
UNTIL HUNGER ENDS.

FY 2011 ANNUAL REPORT

In FY 2011, we distributed more food, built relationships with more supporters, developed more partnerships, and initiated
more programs.

{ MORE } VISION

DEAR FRIENDS,

2011 was yet another pivotal year. We distributed more food, built relationships with more supporters, developed more partnerships, and initiated more programs. And yet, we must do more.

In March 2011 with the release of Feeding America's "Map the Meal Gap" report, we learned that "food insecurity" better defines the condition of the population we serve, not "poverty." Especially in these tough economic times where we are seeing sustainable families losing their ground, the majority of the 466,000 food-insecure people in the Maryland Food Bank's service area are well above the poverty level. This makes them ineligible for any government programs and forces them into the charitable food distribution network. We also learned that on top of all existing anti-hunger food distribution programs, government and private, there is a missing meal gap of some 78 million, or 100 million pounds. We need more.

This Annual Report highlights the continued growth of the food bank and illustrates our nimble response to the ever-increasing need. We will continue on this path in 2012, and as we create our next five-year strategic plan, we will broaden our approach to include the very challenging of our current business model so as to find greater efficiency and productivity. We simply have to be the best at what we do.

The Maryland Food Bank doesn't succeed, however, without tremendous support and talent: our dedicated staff; our visionary board; our diligent partner network; our steadfast donors and volunteers; and the creative thought leaders in our state who continue to see the food bank as the asset it is. Without these partnerships, we would be unable to continue providing the unique service we render. There is only one Maryland Food Bank, and you make it possible. Thank you for continuing to invest in a hunger-free future.

{ MORE } NEED

In 2011, Feeding America released a landmark study: Map the Meal Gap. Combining USDA data and feedback from actual clients, Map the Meal Gap provides a real, alarming look at hunger in Maryland. More than 466,000 Marylanders are food insecure – uncertain of where their next meal is coming from. Of this, 45 percent live above the threshold for government assistance. With rising costs for food and other basic needs, middle-class families cannot make ends meet. Unable to qualify for the Free and Reduced Price Meal Program, WIC or SNAP, they have nowhere to turn but local soup kitchens and pantries supported by the Maryland Food Bank. This data confirms what we have long suspected: hunger is not limited to those living in poverty. To end hunger in Maryland, the food assistance structure must distribute 78 million more meals – 100 million pounds of food – beyond what we are already doing. In Fiscal Year 2011, we made major strides, increasing distribution by 24 percent for a total of 23.1 million pounds of food – 17.7 million meals.

Prince George's and Montgomery Counties are served by a sister Feeding America food bank.

{ MORE } REACH

As we mobilized to narrow the meal gap, we reached farther – finding more food and more effective means of distributing it. In Fiscal Year 2011, we launched a host of initiatives to strengthen our network partners and expand distribution.

PURCHASE-SHARE PROGRAM provided dollar-for-dollar matching funds when partners purchased foods not available in the Maryland Food Bank's donated inventory.

MOBILE LEARNING TOURS allowed new network partners to visit high-functioning partners, encouraging sharing of best practices and coordination of services.

CAPITAL GRANTS supplied shelving, computers and other critical capital items to network partners whose distribution increased by 40 percent as a result.

PARTNER EXCHANGE intranet site was piloted, allowing network partners to receive important news updates, submit service reports and place orders online.

Building our network's capacity takes time. To provide immediate relief to hard-hit communities, we expanded direct service programs.

Supporters provide food, funds and volunteer hours that help us distribute millions of pounds of food each year.

HOW THE MARYLAND FOOD BANK WORKS

{ MORE } RESOURCES

FRESH IDEAS

Two new programs - Farm to Food Bank and FoodWorks - allowed us to distribute more fresh fruits and vegetables than ever before. Healthy, locally-grown produce provides the nutrients that children and families need to overcome hunger.

MORE REACH REQUIRED MORE RESOURCES – NAMELY, FOOD.

In Fiscal Year 2011, we secured a groundbreaking $1 million grant from the State of Maryland for food purchase and distribution. We expanded partnerships with retailers, such as Walmart and Food Lion to find more meat, deli and bakery items. We partnered with institutional caterers, like Delaware North Foodservice and Aramark – both previously untapped food sources. Most importantly, with grants from the USDA and Kaiser Permanente, we launched the Farm to Food Bank program. Farm to Food Bank established a statewide network of 27 farms to provide a steady supply of fresh fruits and vegetables to the Maryland Food Bank.

TO HANDLE MORE FOOD, WE NEEDED ANOTHER KEY RESOURCE: INCREASED CAPACITY.

In August 2010, we launched FoodWorks, a commercial-grade kitchen and culinary training program. With operating support from the Charles T. Bauer Foundation and Marion I. & Henry J. Knott Foundation, FoodWorks preserved perishable foods by incorporating them into healthy frozen meals. It also enabled us to safely break down bulk donations from Perdue Farms and other major donors into manageable portions. FoodWorks prevented waste of vital fruits, vegetables and proteins, ensuring that the maximum amount of nutrient-rich food reached those in need. FoodWorks' training program offered food preparation and food safety training, as well as post-program job placement for low-income individuals seeking careers in the food service industry.

{ MORE } RESULTS

IN FISCAL YEAR 2011, WE DISTRIBUTED A RECORD-BREAKING 23.1 MILLION POUNDS OF FOOD – THE EQUIVALENT OF 17.7 MILLION MEALS. This represents a 24 percent increase over the previous year – a difference of 4.5 million more pounds reaching the community. In just four years, distribution has grown by an astounding 110 percent.

While we still have a long way to go, we are nevertheless proud of our growth. We are thinking strategically and putting our expertise to the test. We are striving for maximum efficiency and effectiveness, gleaning every bit of unused food and pursuing innovation at every turn to end hunger in Maryland. With a stronger network, expanded programs and growing support from individuals, corporations, foundations and government entities alike, we are one step closer to ending hunger every day.

Highlights from the past year include:

THE SCHOOL PANTRY PROGRAM, which distributes groceries through school-operated food pantries, supplied 1 million pounds of food to families in need – a 64 percent increase over the previous year.

SNAP OUTREACH secured food assistance benefits for 1,756 seniors – up from 539 the previous year. More than $1.1 million in annual benefit dollars will be used to purchase food at local retailers.

FOODWORKS produced 200,000 healthy frozen meals using perishable food that might otherwise have gone to waste. FoodWorks offered culinary training and job placement services to 28 low-income students, helping to address key causes of hunger: lack of workforce training and job opportunities.

Supper Clubs and Summer Food Service Programs served 219,000 meals to children enrolled in after school and summer enrichment programs.

{ MORE } AHEAD

We ended Fiscal Year 2011 with a clear vision of where we are going and what we need to get there. With a gap of 78 million missing meals, we must be prepared for a long road ahead. In Fiscal Year 2012, we will upgrade our central facility to allow for continued growth of services. To ensure a consistent food supply to communities across the state, we will begin establishing branch operations in communities outside the Greater Baltimore area. A physical presence and strategic investments in staff and technology will vastly increase aid to underserved rural areas. Food distribution will become much more efficient and we will be able to find more food in regions rich with produce, dairy and other high-demand items.

Most importantly, in Fiscal Year 2012 we will embark on a strategic planning process, developing goals and objectives that will guide us in the next five years. We have achieved much since our last strategic plan was developed four years ago. A new plan will sustain our momentum, ensuring that we continue to think and act strategically – always looking ahead until hunger ends.

We could not have achieved so much without the thousands of supporters listed in the pages of this annual report. Together, we are offering much-needed relief to hundreds of thousands of families across the state. More children are well-nourished and able to learn and succeed. More seniors are receiving federal food assistance. More individuals have access to training and employment opportunities.

Yet, we must still do more. With your continued support, we can – and will – end hunger in Maryland.
